Welcome Messages

Dear EUGA members, colleagues and friends, after the success of the EUGA 2023 Annual Congress in Varese, It is my great pleasure to announce the EUGA 2024 Annual Meeting in Prague.

A scientific programme of great interest and relevance and a growing involvement of affiliated scientific societies will be the main components of the Congress.

One of EUGA's objectives for next year's conference will be offering visibility and a voice to young urogynaecologists and residents, with dedicated sessions and space for oral presentations. The important tradition of urogynaecology in Czech Republic and the wonderful city of Prague will be a guarantee for a successful event.

We hope to meet many of you in Prague on 5-7 December 2024.

Maurizio Serati, President of EUGA

Dear friends and colleagues

After many years, the EUGA Congress is returning to the heart of Europe - Prague - and I'm pleased to invite all of you to join us in our capital, for the XVII EUGA Annual Meeting, next 5-7 December.

We would like to welcome all affiliated societies and their presidents and members. It is not just a phrase; affiliated societies are a core of EUGA and vice versa; EUGA represents all of them.

We are planning the meeting in a very comfortable congress hotel, strategically located near the metro station and equipped with the most modern facilities.

All conference rooms will be on the same floor to ensure easy networking and high visibility for exhibiting industries. Advanced technical and logistical facilities will certainly allow the Scientific Committee to prepare a great scientific programme.

The scientific contents will also be based on your submitted scientific papers.

We all look forward to welcoming a large attendance in Prague during a very special period of the year that will be an ideal combination of science and good times, in a safe and warm atmosphere as a big European urogynaecology family.

Kamil Svabik, EUGA 2024 Congress Chair

At the end of the training attendees will be able to:

- Recognise evidence-based interventions for the prevention of perineal trauma
- Understand that routine and liberal episiotomy policies are not recommended for spontaneous labour

16.10 Q&A

14.30-16.30 WS2 | Pelvic floor ultrasound

Faculty: Kamil Svabik (Chair), Cristina Ros, Jan Dvorak

AIM & OBJECTIVES

The workshop aims to present the current state of clinical use of pelvic floor ultrasound in urogynecology. The ultrasound became in many urogynecological units a routine tool in routine diagnostics algorithms. In recent years there was increasing evidence that ultrasound allows the description of the anatomical situation in the majority of urogynecological disorders like prolapse and incontinence. It is a clinical tool to provide and store evidence of preoperative and postoperative patient anatomical status as well as a functional assessment. In postsurgical assessment, it is essential to describe and understand the complications, especially after the implants. There the ultrasound plays an irreplaceable role.

14.30-16.30 WS3 | Female Sexual Health: How Urogynecology Can Help

Faculty: Sonia Angles (Chair), Y. Reisman, Stefano Salvatore

AIM & OBJECTIVES

Incorporating female sexual health into the training of trainees and young specialists is essential for fostering a healthcare environment where all aspects of a woman's health are addressed. This leads to better patient care, improved mental and physical health outcomes, and a more comprehensive approach to the medical practice. Female sexual health often intersects with various medical disciplines, including gynecology, endocrinology, psychology, and urology. Training in this area promotes a multidisciplinary approach to patient care, fostering collaboration among different specialties for more effective treatment. Sexual health concerns are common among women, including disorders of desire, arousal, orgasm, and pain. Young doctors need to be prepared to recognize, diagnose, and manage these conditions, as they significantly affect quality of life. Training young doctors in this field encourages open discussions, reduces stigma, and ensures that patients feel comfortable seeking help for their sexual health concerns.

14.30-16.30 WS4 | Urinary retention in women: clinical scenarios, evaluation and treatment

Faculty: Anna Padoa (Chair) Maurizio Serati, Andrea Braga, Bence Kozma

AIM & OBJECTIVES

In the absence of standardized guidelines, management of female urinary retention is based on clinical experience. Diagnosis and treatment of postoperative urinary retention, a common clinical scenario, vary widely among clinicians. Data is lacking on the approach to postpartum urinary retention. Functional urinary retention is sporadically encountered and represents a challenge even for experienced urogynecologists.

The aims of the workshop is to:

- Provide a comprehensive review of postoperative urinary retention following anti-incontinence and pelvic organ prolapse surgery.
- Summarize the knowledge on postpartum urinary retention.
- Overview functional urinary retention in women across the lifespan.

14.30-16.30 WS5 | Apical suspension techniques in vaginal pelvic organ prolapse surgery
Faculty: Stergios K. Doumouchtsis (Chair), Sofia Tsiapakidou, Victoria Asfour, Oudai Ali
AIM & OBJECTIVES
 The workshop aims to present and discuss surgical techniques with emphasis on safe approaches in vaginal procedures for pelvic organ prolapse. Training needs and challenges in these procedures have also been identified and highlighted by The European Network of Trainees in Obstetrics and Gynecology (ENTOG).
 The objectives are: Present surgical steps for apical suspension during vaginal hysterectomy and prolapse repair including vault suspension options, sacrospinous procedures, vNotes with emphasis on safe surgical principlesHighlight principles of optimal patient selection surgical planning and decision making.

14.30-16.30 WS6 | Application of energy based devices in urogynaecology
Faculty: Christian Phillips (Chair), Stefano Salvatore, David Lukanovic, Stavros Athanasiou
AIM & OBJECTIVES
 Energy based devices (EBD's) are becoming more popular and diverse in the field of gynaecology and urogynaecology. However, often industry may portray one device similar to another, claiming similar features, mode of action and effect on target tissues/disease states. The key objectives / aims of this workshop include:

- To outline the different types of EBD: their mode of action and gynaecological applications
- To outline the similarities and differences between technologies with evidence to date for EBDs in gynaecology
- To provide advice and guidance for clinicians thinking of adopting EBD technology into their practice
- To encourage further research into EBD's
